this is a study of events and their place in our language and thought the author discusses what kind of item an event is how the language of events works and how these two themes are interrelated he argues that most of the supposedly metaphysical literature on events is really about semantics of their names and that the true metaphysic of events known by leibniz and rediscovered by jaegwon kim has not been universally accepted because it has been obscured by a false semantic theory this book offers new perspectives through which to observe and interpret mega events using the specific case studies of world s fairs di vita and morandi present a report of the milan expo 2015 and its trans scalar legacies while the event and post event have been affected by the world crisis the locations of exhibition areas have greatly expanded encompassing regional as well as post metropolitan spaces the two main aims of comparing milan to previous expos such as lisbon 1998 zaragoza 2008 and shanghai 2010 were to demonstrate the contribution of the 2015 world s fair to the urban innovation process and to the debate surrounding a new urban agenda as well as to examine empirically and theoretically the international discussion regarding the growth of regional and macro regional scales of contemporary cities in order to offer suggestions for future urban agendas through mega events this book will be of great value to students researchers and policy makers in the area of urban planning and the urban studies more broadly geography and spatial politics articles gathered in the volume focus on traditional and contemporary debates within the philosophy of language and on the interfaces between linguistics philosophy and logic the topics of individual contributions cover such diverse issues as analytic accounts of the a priori and implicit definitions medieval and contemporary theories of fallacy game theoretical semantics modal games in natural language and literary semantics possible world theories and paradoxes involving structured propositions extensions to dynamic syntax semantics of proper names judgement dependence tacit knowledge and linguistic understanding ontology in semantics implicit knowledge and theory of meaning and many more the multitude of topics shows that the convergence of linguistic philosophical formal and cognitive approaches opens new research perspectives within contemporary philosophy of language and linguistics the volume includes contributions by among other authors luis fernández moreno madrid chris fox essex ruth kempson london alexander miller birmingham arthur sullivan newfoundland mieszko talasiewicz warsaw we effortlessly recognize all sorts of events from simple events like people walking to complex events like leaves blowing in the wind we can also remember and describe these events and in general react appropriately to them for example in avoiding an approaching object our phenomenal ease interacting with events belies the complexity of the underlying processes we use to deal with them driven by an interest in these complex processes research on event perception has been growing rapidly events are the basis of all experience so understanding how humans perceive represent and act on them will have a significant impact on many areas of psychology unfortunately much of the research on event perception in visual perception motor control linguistics and computer science has progressed without much interaction this volume is the first to bring together computational neurological and psychological research on how humans detect classify remember and act on events the book will provide professional and student researchers with a comprehensive collection of the latest research in these diverse fields food and wine events have gained popularity internationally their importance in local economic development has grown especially in europe as they are seen as a source of income for local economic systems a way for creating new job positions and effective tools for promoting and increasing typical product awareness and demand this book for the first time illustrates the positive and negative impacts of food and wine events from a stakeholder perspective by highlighting several critical aspects such as 1 advantages and disadvantages of food and wine events 2 best practice adoption for maximising benefits flowing from event creation 3 community involvement and knowledge diffusion 4 effectiveness in promoting local products and creating consumer awareness about products 5 factors that promote or inhibit the success or achievements of wine and food events although the volume primarily focuses on events in europe comparisons are made to other regions in the world case studies are integrated throughout to illustrate the system of economic and social impacts linked to food and wine events as well as best practices to achieve effective event management and maximize expected results written by leading academics this timely and important volume will be valuable reading for all students researchers and academics interested in events tourism hospitality gastronomy and development studies
